

November 2013

Dear Parent/Carer

Re: Y11 GCSE Mock Examinations: November & December 2013

Year 11 will be taking part in mock examinations which will start on Wednesday 27th November and continue until Friday, 13th December.

Your son has received his mock examination timetable via his tutor and one will also be published on our website for reference and to enable you to support your son with revision.

These examinations are vital for us to see what additional interventions may be required to make sure your son achieves the best possible examination results in his final GCSE examinations. Please do encourage him to participate in a full revision programme, which may include attending afterschool or lunchtime revision sessions.

The revision programme will be on the school website for your reference from Monday, 25th November 2013

When your son is not in an examination, he will follow his usual timetable so that he does not miss any important lesson time.

The expectation is that your son attends with all the correct equipment ready for his examinations. All of these exams are supervised by invigilators and all exam requirements as per external examinations will apply throughout.

Yours sincerely,

Mr Leadbitter
Head of Upper School
